The Scandalous Sisterhood of Prickwillow Place

A farcical Victorian murder mystery involving a finishing school of not-so-proper young ladies. Arsenic and Old Lace meets St. Trinians. When the crabby headmistress at St. Etheldreda's School for Girls drops down dead at dinner, apparently of poisoning, the young ladies decide to bury her in the backyard, act as if nothing has happened, impersonate her in public, and run the school themselves. What could go wrong? Quite a lot, when murder's involved. Video trailer here: <http://tiny.cc/scandaloustrailer> Recipient of an ALA Odyssey Award.

The Passion of Dolssa

This 2017 Printz Honor title, set in 13th Century southern France, explores the collision of destinies in post-Crusade Provence when Dolssa, a mystic and fugitive, accused of heresy, is rescued from starvation by Botille, a matchmaker and tavern-keeper, and her sisters. When Lucien, a friar-inquisitor, comes hunting for his runaway, Dolssa's miracles and town's affection for her make her impossible to hide, until the persecution of heretics and anyone associated with them puts every loyalty to the ultimate test. A New York Times Notable book, a finalist for the L.A. Times Book Prize, and a YALSA Best Fiction for Young Adults Top Ten title. Historical backdrop video here: <http://tiny.cc/dolssabackdrop>

All the Truth That's In Me

Judith has suffered a trauma that's left her unable to speak. After years in captivity, she returns to her small, Puritanical, colonial community where she lives the life of a silent outcast. She's in love, though no one knows it, with a young man in the village. But when invaders threaten their small settlement, and the death of her beloved and even those who torment her is all but certain, Judith realizes that she, and only she, knows how to save the town, though it will take confronting her captor, reclaiming her voice, and speaking the truth to save herself. Shortlisted for the Edgar Award and the Carnegie Medal; a 2013 YALSA Best Fiction for Young Adults Top Ten Title.
